

August 31, 2016

To Our Valued Supplier:

Agrati Group is pleased to announce the acquisition of Continental Midland Group (CMG). The CMG acquisition will enable Agrati to increase their current business and develop stronger relationships with both customers and suppliers, becoming one of the largest fastener manufacturers in the world. After this acquisition, the Agrati Group expects to close 2016 with a consolidated turnover of over 640 million Euros ($700 million USD), with 12 manufacturing plants, 5 logistic centers and 2.500 employees.

Agrati Group is continuing the process of international growth, expanding its industrial, commercial and technical presence in the North American market, in line with the globalization strategy. The goal is to intensify the presence of Agrati in the key market segments globally.

CMG will contribute providing to customers an even greater level of service and technical support through a wide products variety, in line with the main Agrati Group targets: globalization, technical leadership and full supply chain provider.

We value our relationship and assure you that our commitment to you remains the same. If you have any questions, please contact your CMG representative directly.

Thank you again for being a valued supplier.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Phil Johnson", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Phil Johnson
Chief Executive Officer